The prisoner was poor, and was unfamiliar with the practice of English justice, and after the strange procedure that had been followed in this particular case voting of a sum of $2,500 in connection with the in all probability he was more bewildhed than ever. Scarcely was he released and had quitted the precincts of the Gaol when he was again arrested. He was fortunate in having friends here to assist him in his defence, but even their patience might soon be erhausted, and out of common charity and in some regard for the reputation of English justice, he would ask his Worship to proceed with the case day by day until the whole evidence that was to be produced against him was taken. The Chinese authorities, of there was any truth in the charge against this man must have had threw up their sleeve for a considerable number of years, and it was strange iff after having brought the charge, they were not in a position to produce

THE VAGRANCY BILL

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE DAILY PRESS," Sir.—The Government has introduced a Vagrancy Act, and every one must be glad to see it has been withdrawn, as a more silly measure could searcely be penned. Who are the vagrants and how do they get here? Undenbtedly the masters of American ships are to a large extent responsible. Mustars of English steamers also have a fashion of paying off their Europeau seamen and shipping Chinese. If the Government would simply prohibit any seaman from being discharged at Hongkong unless the master of the ship guaranteed that he would be sent out of the Colony or some householder went security that he would not become a vagrant it would diminish the number of vagrants. This is the Shanghai system. At present there are numbers here—mostly British—and it would cortain. ly be well if the Government deported the whole lot to Australia, as many of them are a disgrace to the European community. The Foreign Consuls keep their countrymen at boarding honers, puving for them and new their influence to find them employment. Britishers come out from home looking for employment and are thus placed at a considerable disadvantage, as they may have to ramain perhaps three months seeking a job and find a foreigner getsit through this Consular influence, and thus he may become a vagrant. I would suggest that s little protection be given to the long-suffering Britisher. At home the great majority of shipowners have decided, in response to the recent spitation, to employ only Britishers. Can't the British shipowners on the coast of China take the hint as well? It does not cost them any more, and many an officer and engineer in the Far East has relatives depending on him at home. Surely in the depressed state of things in England our own people are entitled to a little onsideration.—I remain, yours, &c.,

A WOMAN'S SUFFERINGS AND GRATITUDE. A VOICE FROM AUSTRIA. Near the village of Zillingdorf, in Lower

Austria lives Maria Hass, an intelligent and industrious woman, whose story of physical suffering and final relief, as related by herself, is [3] cattles. of interest to English women. "I was employed," she says, "in the work of a large farmhouse. Overwork brought on sick headache, followed by a deathly fainting and sickness of the atomach until I was unable to retain either food or drink. I was compelled to take to my bed for several weeks. Getting a little better from rest and quiet. I sought to do some work, but was soon taken with a pain in my side, which in a little while seemed to spread over my wholebody, and throbbed in my every limb. This was followed by a cough and shortness of breath, until finally I could not sew, and I took to my bed for the second, and, as I thought, for the last time. My HONGKONG AND WHAMPOA DOCK friends told me that my time had nearly come, ard that I could not live longer than when the trees put on their green once more. Then I of it before I felt a great change for the better. My last illness began June 3rd, 1882, and continued to August 9th, when I began to take the Syrap. Very soon I could do a little work. The cough left me, and I was no more troubled in breathing. Now I am perfectly cared. And oh, how happy I am! I cannot express grati-tude enough for Seigel's Syrup. Now I must tell you that the doctors in our district distributed handbills cautioning people sgainst the medicine, telling them it would do them no good. and many were thereby influenced to destroy the Seigel pamphlets; but now, wherever one is to be found, it is kept like a relic. The few preserved are borrowed to read, and I have lent mine for six miles around our district. People have come eighteen miles to get me to buy the medicine for them, knowing that it cured me, and to be sure to get the right kind. I know a woman who was looking like death, and who told them there was no help for her, that she had consulted several doctors, but none could help her. I told her of Seigel's Syrup, and wrote the. name down for her that she might make no mistake. She took my advice and the Syrup. around us are amazed. The medicine has made such progress in our neighbourhood that people say they don't want the doctor any more, but they take the Syrup. Sufferers from gout who were confined to their bed and could hardly move with costiveness and rheumatic pains and had to have an attendant to watch by her. There was not a doctor in the surrounding districts to whom her mother had not applied to relieve her child, but every one crossed themselves and said they Seigel's Byrup and Pills saved her life, and now
